"Britain's Got the Murder Factor"

It's an exciting era for the Langstone Hotel as the staff prepare for a ground-breaking event. Live auditions for the new stage production of "Le Fantôme du Théâtre" will take place in cabaret style and will be televised live in front of a celebrity judging panel, chaired by Simon Scowell, head of Fix Factory Records. Complete with diva auditionees, judges, TV presenter and an over-zealous phone-hacking journalist, you get the feeling that it is not only the songs that are going to get murdered!

Actors interact with you at the tables whilst enjoying a 3-course dinner, to perform dialogue, introduce clues, help you solve the mystery and thoroughly entertain you. Audience participation is welcomed but not compulsory - so you can spontaneously take part if you wish or sit back and enjoy the show going on around you.
